Walk for Hunger and Wake Up the Earth Festivities

20 mile walk? No problem! Our fabulous Walk for Hunger team took the miles in stride, joining 30,000 other walkers in support of Project Bread's anti-hunger work that supports Haley House's volunteer-run soup kitchen and food pantry. Congratulations to all of our walkers, including those who joined the Wake Up the Earth parade from Dudley to Stony Brook on Saturday.

Artist's Reception, Lana Jackson's "The Fabric of Life"

Thursday, May 23, 5:30pm at Haley House Bakery Cafe

the fabric of life
Lana Jackson | Selected Works

"My work celebrates the process of living", states Ms. Jackson, "...our survival in spite of and because of life events". Thread, paint, hand-dyed fiber and paper are used in Lana Jackson's show, "The Fabric of Life", to chronicle repetitive themes in the human life cycle - innocence and naivete, conformity and process, conflict and turmoil, understanding and adaptability. Join us in celebration of Ms. Jackson's work on May 23rd, with a reception starting at 5:30pm that will lead into a conversation with the artist beginning at 7:00pm at Art is Life itself.

GivingSomeThing for Haley House Soup Kitchen

GivingSomeThing.com lets you choose exactly what you would like to give to non-profits, like Haley House, who are able to post exactly what they need. Haley House is asking for household, kitchen, and garden items that we need before our summer internship program begins on May 27th. Please help us by purchasing items - large or small - that will further empower our summer crew as they live together while immersing themselves in the work of Haley House's soup kitchen, food pantry, urban garden, and community outreach. Find our GivingSomeThing page here, or if you already have items that you would like to donate, please and contact Mary Ashton at (617) 807-1173.
